

Peter Panda

Trev

Written & illustrated by

Trev

In this world,
there is a special little panda named Peter.

This panda lives in a majestic forest where wild things grow.

Including... a rainbow of colours!

This rainbow is actually Peter's head of clown hair.

You can see it from afar.
It is so bright and shiny.

redyellowblue

so many colours, can you name one or two?

That's okay if you miss a few,
Peter is colour blind too ;)

Peter Panda does not fit in with the normal pandas.

Who would ever play with a panda who has clown hair on his head?

So strange!

So different!

So weird!

No matter to Peter. He is on a special mission today. He has no time for games and play.

Pandas like to eat bamboo. Peter is on a mission to find a special golden bamboo that is said to be hidden in the majestic forest.

This golden bamboo shines even brighter than the hair on Peter Panda's head.
Is that even possible?!

This particular bamboo has special growing powers. Even when a panda eats and eats and eats the golden bamboo, it grows back!

Munch munch

munch. Ploomp

ploomp ploomp.

Munch munch

munch. Ploomp

There is only one golden bamboo to find.

Centuries go by as Peter travels through the majestic forest. That's right, centuries!

Tick tock tick tock tick tock.

Where could it be?

How many trees are there to see?

tick tock

tick tock

tick tock.

Then, out of the blue (and forest green lol), Peter sees a golden light near the very edge of the majestic forest.

Gorillas with clown hair found the golden bamboo first!

Peter thought he was the only one with clown hair.

He turned away to head back, feeling sad about his adventure. He did not find the golden bamboo first.

Then all of a sudden, a gorilla grabs his shoulder.

Oh

no!!!

It's okay. The gorillas decide to share.
Peter Panda is home now.

With friends. With clown hair.

The end.

Trev